RSSS Guest Lecture Series - FALL 2021

Sponsored by the Department of Russian and Slavic Studies

Tuesday
October 5
5:00 PM (PDT)

Zoom link:
https://arizona.zoom.us/j/88452412174
MeetingID: 884 5241 2174

For more information
CONTACT:
Dr. Liudmila Klimanova
klimanova@arizona.edu

Tuesday October 5 5:00 PM (PDT)

Independent Media in Russia and Belarus: The Ways to Exist Despite Control

The situation surrounding press freedoms in Russia and Belarus nowadays is becoming more and more tense. Several independent media groups in Russia that were known for their anti-corruption investigations were labeled as "foreign agents," which puts their future under question. In Belarus, dozens of journalists have been detained or arrested since the mass protests started; many others had to leave the country due to safety concerns. However, independent journalism in both countries is still alive despite the pressure. How can independent media find the way to survive and even thrive in this new era?

Ksenia Turkova
Voice of America Broadcast Journalist

Dr. Turkova is an international journalist, linguist (PhD in Philology), and educator. For over 20 years she has been a news anchor for radio and TV shows around the world, ranging from NTV, REN TV and Echo of Moscow in Russia to Hromadske TV in Ukraine. She currently works as a broadcast journalist for the Russian service of Voice of America in the United States.